TEN CENTS A WEEK

NO VERDICT YET AS TO KELLEY AND DAVIDSON

Jury Out All Night---Probable Verdict Will Be Rendered in Case This Morning.

PALATKA, June 25.—8 p. m.—(Special)—After strong and eloquent appeals by attorneys for the State and defense, and Judge Wills' charge as to the law in the case, the fate of James Kelley and D. M. Davidson, on trial for the past five days charged with the murder of W. C. Sellars at High Springs three years ago, now rests with the jury of twelve men who were selected to render a verdict in the case.

Hon. Robert W. Davis made the closing argument for the defendants this morning, speaking for three hours, and it was one of the strongest appeals ever made to a jury by an attorney who realized that possibly the lives of two men depended upon his defense of them. Those who have heard Col. Davis address a jury in murder cases can possibly appreciate the force and brilliancy of his argument when it is said that his speech today was the best he has ever made before a jury upon similar occasions. His speech visibly effected the jury and spectators, and if his clients are not acquitted it will be through no fault of this noted lawyer.

Solicitor Rivers Closes.

State Attorney J. M. Rivers made the closing argument for the commonwealth and final one in the case. It can be truthfully said that he has handled the State's side of the case in a masterly manner throughout the trial and his appeal to the jury for justice to the dead was a powerful one. He reviewed the evidence in detail, and set forth the salient points against the defendants with effective force.

The jury had not returned a verdict up to adjournment of court tonight, when a recess was taken until 9 o'clock Saturday morning.

There is considerable speculation as to what the verdict will be.

Following is the concluding testimony in the Kelley-Davidson case, offered in rebuttal by the State of evidence given by witnesses for the defense, as summarized by Miss Lois Hale, court stenographer, from her official notes:

R. L. Kennerly testified in rebuttal as follows:

Was sheriff of Putnam county; held the position of deputy sheriff of Putnam county in June, July and August, 1906; knows Jim Grant; arrested him in June, 1906, and he was sent to the county prison—sentenced June 25th, 1906, for three months—the same Jim Grant who was brought into the court room and identified by one of the defendant's witnesses.

Mrs. Mattie M. Sellars, widow of W. C. Sellars, testified that she was married to W. C. Sellars in July, 1905, and lived at 206 Ross avenue, Tampa, Fla.; that Mr. Sellars had not, just before he came to High Springs, or at any other time, been engaged in any personal difficulties, or personal trouble of any kind, with anyone. That her husband had not been engaged in numerous shooting scrapes around Tampa, at any time previous to his visit to High Springs.

S. H. Wienges Testified

That he was clerk of the circuit court of Alachua county. Left Gainesville on last Friday; that no subpoena was issued for Mrs. Fannie Smith, who testified as a witness in this case for the defendants, prior to the 8th day of May, 1909.

Walter Andrews

Testified that he lives in Palatka, Fla., knows D. W. Jernigan. Is in the United States postal service; made the acquaintance of Jernigan about 15 years ago in Savannah, Ga. Witness stated that he was only there for about two weeks at that time; knew the general reputation of D. W. Jernigan for truth and veracity in the community to be good; and would believe him on oath.

Jos. E. Burns

Testified that he lived in Palatka; came from Savannah, Ga., here; knew D. W. Jernigan since February, 1907; knew him when he was on the police force in Savannah, Ga., at the union station; knew Jernigan's reputation for truth and veracity to be good.

Jesse Greek

Lives in Jacksonville; holds a position there on police force; has held such position for about fifteen years; knows D. W. Jernigan, knew him while he lived in Jacksonville; knows the general reputation of D. W. Jernigan for truth and veracity to be good.

On cross-examination by counsel for defense witness said when he knew D. W. Jernigan in Jacksonville he (Jernigan) was in the railroad service there—special agent in the yards there—and that during the time that he was there Jernigan was arrested for larceny and carried back to Savannah.

J. L. Grimes

Testified that he was brought to court as defendants' witness; knows Pete Burkhardt, who testified here. Knows his general reputation in the community where he lives, and that reputation is all right. Would believe him on oath.

G. W. Easterlin

Testified in rebuttal that he lives in High Springs; was on the coroner's jury in this case; knows Pete Burkhardt—has known him for seven or eight years—knows his general reputation in the community in which he lives for truth and veracity, and that reputation is good.

Cross-Examination by Defense.

Q. "I will ask you, if it is not generally believed that Mr. Burkhardt swore falsely before the coroner's jury in this case?"

A. "I cannot say what he swore to, but we did not get anything out of him."

Q. "Is it generally believed that Mr. Burkhardt swore falsely before the coroner's jury in High Springs?"

A. "Of course."

Jesse Mizelle

Lives in High Springs, has lived there seven or eight years; was on the coroner's jury that held the inquest over the body of W. C. Sellars; was brought to court here as defendants' witness; knows Pete Burkhardt—known him for three years—knows his general reputation in the community where he lives—good—from that reputation witness would believe him on his oath. Knows J. L. O'Neal, called "Buck" O'Neal; knows his reputation for truth and veracity; and that reputation is bad; from that reputation witness would not believe him on oath; knows Jim Cloud, who is a witness here; known him for five years; known his general reputation in that community where he lives for truth and veracity, and that reputation is bad; from that reputation witness would not believe him on oath.

Cross-examination by defense—Witness did not remember that he had ever heard anyone in High Springs say that they believed that Pete Burkhardt was a liar or that he told falsehoods; said he had not said so.

Q. "Don't you know, or believe, that he swore to falsehoods in High Springs?"

A. "He has never been sworn before me."

Q. "Were you not on the coroner's jury that investigated the Sellars case?"

A. "Yes."

Q. "Didn't he swear before you?"

A. "Yes, and I will take that back. I was on the coroner's jury, and they had him up."

Witness had not heard other people say that they believed that he swore to falsehoods.

J. H. Fields, in rebuttal, stated that he knew Mr. Davidson's daughter, Miss Emma Davidson, now Mrs. Edmundson. At the time of the killing of Mr. Sellars, witness did not consider that he was engaged to be married to her—"would not consider it that way."

Q. "Answer the question."

A. "No."

Q. "Have you ever been engaged to her?"

A. "You might say."

Q. "You had before?"

A. "Yes."

Q. "But weren't you at that time?"

A. "No."

MAYOR DAVIS' COURT.

Several Cases Continued Until Next Monday Morning.

George McDade, Rebecca Wiser, and Ella McDade, all brothers and sisters, were before Mayor Davis Friday morning on the charge of fighting. It seems that it was a general family mix-up, and as a large number of witnesses were to be examined the case was continued until Monday.

In two cases for riding a bicycle on the sidewalks, bonds were forfeited amounting to $10.

Grace Harris and another negro forfeited their cash bond for disorderly conduct, amounting to $20.

CHINESE MURDER IS STILL GREAT MYSTERY

Chung Sing, Who Confessed to Seeing Miss Elsie Sigel Dead on Bed, Given a Rest.

NEW YORK, June 25.—With all tangible indications of any near approach to a solution of the murder of Elsie Sigel narrowing to the vanishing point, whereas a fresh crop of rumors springs with each hour of added uncertainty, another day of the threefold investigation by police, detectives and district attorney, ended last night. Chung Sing, after thirty-four hours of steady grilling, but with one intermission for sleep, had a day of rest at last. Either because the police despair of squeezing more information out of him, or because they believe that if he is left for a space to forget the details of his first answers he may entangle himself in more contradictions, they did not question him yesterday.

The same stream of hopeful, but unsatisfactory clues kept pouring in from Chinatown itself, from Newark and the suburbs, and even from the cities of the Pacific Coast, but as far as the police here could determine last night, none of them proved to have any substantial basis.

A rumor that a war between the Tongs was impending because of Chu Gains' revelations to the police found momentary confirmation in the arrest late yesterday of a lone Chinaman with a revolver tucked under his blouse, but the police said last night that they were unable to connect him with any concerted plan for an uprising.

The one bit of authentic information which turned up yesterday did not greatly forward the search for Leon Ling.

This information came from Chu Gain, who explained that the $260 advanced to Chung Sin, Leon Ling's room-mate, did not come out of his private purse. The police have been much puzzled about this loan, because its existence involved a contradiction. Why should Chu Gain, who lived in terror of his rival, Leon Ling, lend money to that rival's known intimate? Chu Gain explained yesterday that the money was part of a loan fund belonging to the Chinese Empire Reform Association, of which he is treasurer. The society exists, among other things, for the purpose of supplying funds to its members who are entitled to draw on the treasury in proportion to the amount of their paid up dues. Whenever there is any question as to which of two rival bidders shall get a loan, the matter is decided in favor of the bidder of the highest interest. Chung Sin, it was explained, had put in his bid as a member, and as there was no one offering a higher profit to the society, he was entitled to the $260 and got it.

Governor Smith Fires Railroad Commissioner

ATLANTA, Ga., June 25.—Governor Hoke Smith, who retires from office on Saturday, yesterday suspended from office Chairman S. G. McLendon of the State Railroad Commission because of McLendon's recent decision in refusing to order State railroads to reduce rates between Savannah and Atlanta, known as the "port rates."

A feature of the suspension is that Mr. McLendon was a successor of Joseph M. Brown, now Governor-elect, who succeeds Governor Smith on Saturday and whom Governor Smith dismissed from his position as railroad commissioner about two years ago.

Governor Smith said that McLendon was suspended because he was opposing the platform upon which the Governor was elected and was pursuing a course which the Governor thought detrimental to the interests of the State. He will send a special message to the Legislature today giving the reasons for the suspension.

The "port rates" controversy was for lower rates on iron and coffee. Several Atlanta firms petitioned for this reduction, claiming that other cities, particularly Nashville, enjoyed lower rates from Georgia ports than did Atlanta. In his opinion deciding against this petition, Mr. McLendon said that to grant the lower rates would be equivalent to interfering with interstate commerce, which the State railroad commission had no right to do.

Negroes Rob Express Co's. Safe on T. & J. Railway

John Johnson and Justice Howard, secured the cash, amounting in all to $162.

After the negroes were arrested by Deputy Sheriff Ford of Micanopy they owned up to the theft and stated that the money was buried at Fairfield, but a thorough investigation failed to find it where they said it was located. Two dollars of the money was found in one of the freight cars under a watermelon, but this was all that had been located up to a late hour yesterday afternoon.

They will be given a hearing before Justice Carlisle in this city today.

If its worth more to someone else than to you—no matter what it is—a want ad. will be a good investment.

Forty People Injured By Trolley Collision

WILMINGTON, Del., June 25.—Forty persons were injured, several seriously, as a result of a collision between two southbound trolley cars on the Wilmington and Chester line last night. All of the victims are from Chester, Pa. The accident occurred at Hill Crest, and was due to the lights of the first trolley car being extinguished by the trolley pole slipping off the feed wire. The injured were brought to the Delaware and Homeopathic hospitals in trolley cars and ambulances. The most seriously injured are:

broken, other split open, may die.
Lillie Atkins, aged 19, may lose both legs.
Gilbert Bardsley, aged 18 years, leg broken, head badly cut.
Elizabeth Schaffer, aged 18, both legs badly cut.
Exall Rover, aged 23, motorman on second car, leg broken and injured internally.
Samuel Kirk Bennington, aged 21, contusions of leg.

BIG BALL GAMES ALL DURING NEXT WEEK

DAVIS HAS NICE LIST BEFORE TAKING THE ROAD.

Saturday's Game Brought About by Citizens' Committee, Who Asked That Mr. Davis Secure It.

- Schedule for the Coming Week. •
- Monday—Oak Halls vs. Ocala. •
- Wednesday—Oak Halls vs. Hastings. •
- Thursday—Oak Halls vs. Hastings. •
- Saturday—Oak Halls vs. Palatka. •
- Hastings is virtually the same team that represents St. Augustine. •

Commencing on Monday all fandom will have the opportunity of witnessing some extra games of baseball, for Manager Davis has secured almost a full slate the week before starting on the road.

The Ocala boys will arrive on the morning train Monday for the purpose of bucking against the invincible Oak Halls. The Ocala boys have played a large number of games so far this season and they propose to make it interesting for us. The Ocala team is composed of a set of good players, and it has been rumored that they will secure some extra material to assist them on this occasion.

Hastings, or St. Augustine, will have a two-days' series to be played here commencing on Wednesday, and the fact that they have a long list of well-earned victories to their credit so far this season shows that they are interested and will give the boys a run for their money.

Palatka is to close the fun for the week, having been scheduled to play here on Saturday. This date was occasioned by the citizens' committee urging Manager Davis to secure a first-class club to play against on that particular date. The proposed celebration fell through, but Manager Davis will hold good his contract and play the Palatkans anyhow.

Gainesville's players were never more enthused, and with the proper "ginger" behind them they will not be afraid to tackle anything in the State League, and might venture into faster company if it was really thrown at them, for they know no such word as fail, and have adopted the by-word of "we dose 'em," and during the games of next week they will "show 'em how to play ball."

The Summer Normal.

Several students have already arrived to attend the teachers' training school which opens Monday at the High School building, and many have written for accommodations. Until Dr. Murphree arrives Maj. Floyd will act as principal. He is prepared to give information about the courses, text-books and boarding places. Persons desiring to take boarders should communicate with him if they have not already done so. The opening exercises will be held Monday morning at 8:30 in the High School Auditorium.

Poor Milk

Is often thought to be responsible for an infant's loss in weight or general poor health. The cause usually is that the child has worms. They get the nourishment of the food and the baby starves, actually starves. White's Cream Vermifuge expels the worms and nourishes the child, sure and safe. Price 25 cents. Sold by W. M. Johnson.

Another Restaurant Opens.

N. Francisco, the south side fruit man, has opened up a restaurant business in connection with his fruit stand and is now prepared to serve your wants on short orders or regular meals. He will have a first-class chef in charge, who can serve you with French, Spanish or American cooking, and solicits a share of your patronage. His place has been neatly arranged, looks very inviting and all that he asks is to give him a trial.

PRETTY CHURCH WEDDING.

Mr. M. P. Hunter and Miss Fannie L. Mizelle the Contracting Parties.

MELROSE, June 25.—For the first time in many years the Melrose people had the pleasure of witnessing a church wedding on Wednesday morning, when Miss Fannie L. Mizelle was married to Mr. M. P. Hunter at the Baptist church, which had been most tastefully decorated by the bride's friends. Against the pulpit a screen of palmettos, white hydrangeas, white oleanders and ferns had been arranged, in front of which was a tall arch of ivy mixed with the same flowers, a large wedding bell of fragrant spider lilies on ivy foundation hanging from the center, large pine trees and palmettos filling the background.

Promptly at 11 o'clock the notes of the wedding march, played by Miss Nettie Huffman, announced the coming of the bridal party. Preceded by the ushers, H. Fowler and C. P. Huffman, Jr., came the bride's maids, Miss Mamie Robinson and Miss Nora Mizelle, and the groomsmen, Stafford Caldwell and Harry Jackson, followed by the bridal couple. Rev. B. R. Moseley met the party at the altar and performed the ceremony.

The church was crowded with the many friends of the bride, who, with her sister, Miss Kate, have been great favorites, a fact which was also demonstrated by the large number of handsome presents of silver, cut glass, etc., received by the bride.

After an elaborate collation at the Huffman House, partaken by about twenty-eight guests, the happy couple started for a short wedding trip to Suwannee Springs, residing afterwards at Jasper, where the groom is a prosperous merchant.

The weather clerk was most considerate, it being the first day without rain for a week—but it was noticed that something like a cloudburst of rice fell about the time the bridal party drove off.

Your correspondent would like to describe the handsome gowns of the bride and her maids, but being a mere man, is afraid he could not do justice to the occasion, hence will not attempt it.

Among the specially invited guests were Prof. and Mrs. Geo. M. Lynch, Gainesville; Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Curtis, Orange Heights; Misses Nora and Althea Mizelle, DeLand, and Stafford Caldwell, Jasper.

On Tuesday evening a reception and miscellaneous shower was tendered to the bride by about forty of her friends at the Huffman House, which was much enjoyed by all present.

THE WILSON STORE NOW STOCK COMPANY

J. D. GARDNER MANAGER OF NEW CORPORATION.

Leading Gainesville Citizens Are Interested in the Enterprise and Will Enlarge the Business.

The Wilson Dry Goods Company is the style of a new firm now operating in Gainesville, which is composed of a number of our leading citizens.

While it has been known that a change was contemplated it was not until the past week that the transaction was finally concluded. The new company takes charge of one of the oldest and best established dry goods stores of the city.

Manager J. D. Gardner, who was formerly with the Hyde Company, and Miss Bessie King, who has also been with the same concern as saleslady, both have stock in this enterprise, which bids fair to become one of the most important dry goods firms in East Florida.

They have made arrangements whereby they will have the up-stairs in addition to what they are now using, and it will give them ample room for the present to meet the largely increasing demands in the dry goods line, which has fully doubled since this firm has secured a location on the square.

J. D. Gardner, his wife and also Miss Bessie King, who are interested in the company, have been identified with the trade here, and having catered so successfully to the wants of the buying public will be better enabled to anticipate their future wants in the dry goods line. In addition to the mammoth stock already carried, they will install other lines in their up-stairs department, which enables them to have as large a stock as could be desired by an appreciative public.

Mr. and Mrs. Gardner are thoroughly experienced in the dry goods business and have worked unceasingly since their residence here to promote the interests of the firm with which they were connected, and the trade now being enjoyed by them attests the popularity in which they are held by the citizens of this part of Florida. Miss Bessie King, who has long been identified with the Hyde Company, will soon leave to go with this new corporation, and the fact that she has handled the sales department in the ladies' ready-to-wear department is evidence sufficient that she thoroughly understands the wants of the people and will be found ever willing to serve them.

By reference to the articles of incorporation, which appear elsewhere, it will be seen that C. A. Colclough, J. D. Stringfellow, W. R. Thomas, J. D. Gardner and Miss Bessie L. King are the stock holders, and the company is now in operation at the old G. W. Hyde stand.

They will make numerous changes in the building and add new lines to their already extensive interests for the coming fall trade.

THE NEW WESTERN SCHEDULE MONDAY

CITRA TRAIN CHANGED TO RUN FROM WILCOX.

The First Direct Western Train for Gainesville Which Allows Them to Return the Same Day.

The new schedule effective on next Monday over the A. C. L. railway will give the citizens of the western part of the county an opportunity to visit the city and return home the same day.

What has been known as the Citra train for a number of years, running between that point and High Springs, will be changed to run from Wilcox to Citra. This train will be known as Nos. 138, north bound, and 139 south bound.

Train No. 139 will leave Wilcox at 6:45 a. m., arriving Gainesville at 8:50 in the morning, proceeding on to Citra, arriving there at 11:25, and allowing a lay-over until 3 p. m., when it again starts on the return trip as No. 138. It will leave Citra at 3 p. m., arrive Gainesville at 5:58, and reach its destination at 8:20 p. m.

There will be no change in the arrival and departure of the other four passenger trains, Nos. 39 and 40 and Nos. 9 and 10, which will be run the same as heretofore, but the Citra train will call in and out at Micanopy as it has done heretofore.

Under this new arrangement Gainesville will enjoy the best schedule that it has ever had at the hands of the railroad people, and this will very probably prove a valuable change for the business interests of Gainesville. For the past few years a large part of the people of the western part of Alachua county have been going to Jacksonville to do their shopping, owing to the convenience of the schedules, but this will make the change that has long been desired.

Some efforts should be made by the merchants to advertise a free trip over the new schedule, to get better acquainted with the neighbors from the western part of the county.

Citizens of Micanopy Protest.

The citizens of Micanopy are very much dissatisfied over the change in the trains of the A. C. L., which they claim works an injustice upon their particular section.

Drs. H. L. Montgomery, J. D. Watkins and C. E. Melton were here all of Wednesday arranging for a protest to be submitted before the Railroad Commission.

They claim that they were led to believe all along that trains Nos. 9 and 10 were to be run into Micanopy, both morning and evening, and they readily consented for the Citra train to be changed, thinking they would be placed on this schedule and it would prove more beneficial to their particular section.

Within the past few days they have learned that such was not the intention of the railroad company, and they have prepared a number of affidavits, besides a lengthy petition, requesting that the trains be not changed.

It is understood that nearly enough money has been subscribed by the citizens of that section to have the change of the road bed assured, placing Micanopy on the main line, and it is known that the right of way has already been secured, but nothing is being done by the railway company to take up their magnanimous offer.

Robinson-Smith.

WILLISTON, June 25.—A beautiful home wedding was solemnized here Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, when Mr. Raymond Robinson and Miss Sadie Smith were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. The impressive ceremony was performed by Rev. Gates. The parlor was artistically decorated with vines and cut flowers, and in the center of an arch of green hung an immense wedding bell under which the bridal couple stood. The bride wore a beautiful princess dress of white tulle, trimmed with lace. Her veil was fastened with dainty white flowers and she carried a bouquet of bride's roses. After receiving the congratulations of friends and relatives delicious refreshments were served.

The couple were the recipients of numerous and costly gifts.

Beautifully and effectively Mendelssohn's Wedding March was rendered by Miss Martell Smith.

The best wishes of hosts of friends follow this popular young couple that their life may be a bon voyage upon the sea of life.

They will make Williston their future home.

BROWN HOUSE HAS CHANGED HANDS

J. A. ETTLE PURCHASES INTER-EST FROM HIS FATHER.

Will Make More Improvements During the Fall in Anticipation of Largely Increased Business.

Joe A. Ettle has assumed full charge and management of the Brown House, having purchased his father's interest in the business, which was run heretofore as J. W. Ettle & Son.

Joe, as he is familiarly known among the traveling public, will endeavor to maintain the same high standard that has characterized this popular place for the past few months and anticipates making a number of changes during the early fall to accommodate its growing patronage.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ettle are now in Alabama, and it is understood that they are considering the plan of operating a new hotel just across the bay from Mobile.

Joe Ettle is popular among the traveling public and has managed to please his patrons for some time past, which accounts for the steady travel that is coming his way in the hotel business.

One of the improvements that he is now contemplating is to employ all white help, and he has already secured two white boys to act as bell boys. He believes in good service and will do his utmost to raise the average of the house at all times and make the traveling man, who has a bad time at best, feel at home in his place.

TELEPHONE TALKS

The Long Distance System

One of the most valuable features of our service, to our subscribers and to the public generally, is our connection with the extensive long distance lines of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and the other associated Bell Telephone companies.

We own thousands of miles of long distance lines in the seven States in which we operate and in addition can connect any telephone in our system with lines extending to any other city in which a Bell Telephone system is operated.

These long distance lines are of the most modern and improved construction and are maintained at a high state of efficiency. The Bell systems, operating in various sections of the country, are uniform in their equipment and in their methods of operating.

Only by reason of this close traffic arrangement between the Bell Telephone companies is it possible to go to a Bell Telephone almost anywhere, ask for "Long Distance" and be put in communication with almost any point in the country.

This vast network of wires, radiating throughout the nation, is used daily in commerce and for social purposes by the banker, the farmer and citizens in all walks of life and our plant here is an important link in this great chain.

DEMOCRATS AND THEIR DUTY.

The press all over the country is discussing the tests of Democratic fealty as applied to the votes of Democratic members of Congress on the tariff amendments. We have heard much of this in Florida, some editors holding the extreme and absurd view that a Democratic Congressman ought to vote against any and all forms of protection, adhering strictly to the letter of the party platform, in entire disregard of the interests of his constituents. This view, however, The Tribune is thankful to observe, is not entertained by the great majority of Florida editors.

It has been for years an unwritten law of the party that, in the event of the absolute certainty of a protective tariff system, Democratic members should endeavor to secure as many of the benefits of protection as possible for their home industries. Thus it was that Representatives and Senators from Florida have always, when a Republican protective tariff bill was in process of adoption asked for protective duties on Florida products. When the cigar industry began to assume importance in this city, Florida became directly interested in maintaining a duty on cigars, and since that time Florida Congressmen have been vigilant in having this duty incorporated in every tariff bill. Under the strict letter of the Democratic platform, this is not allowable; and strict compliance with that platform would mean that the great cigar industry of Tampa would be made to suffer irretrievable loss, our fruit and cotton growers would be visited with severe setbacks, simply because our Congressmen held themselves to thorough observance of the principles of their party. Such a course would not be tolerated for a moment by the people of Florida, platform or no platform; nor would it be tolerated by the Democrats of any other district or State directly interested in industries that require the assistance of protective tariff duties. Imagine, for instance, the Florida Representatives saying: "We can't conscientiously advocate and work for protection of cigars and fruit and cotton—we are Democrats, and the Democratic platform and Mr. Bryan say we must advocate protective tariff." How many terms do you suppose would these Congressmen be permitted to represent the people of Florida?

Along this particular line, The El Paso (Tex.) Times has some pertinent remarks, as follows:

"No man on earth would have the effrontery to question the devotion to the Democratic party and its principles of John H. Reagan of Texas or Senators Voorhees, Vance, Ransom, Morgan or Jarvis.

"These Senators voted in 1900 in favor of a duty of 50 cents on iron ore, and those of them that were living in 1894 voted, with all the other Democrats, except David B. Hill, and with all the Democratic Representatives for a duty of 40 per cent on iron ore.

"In 1896 and in 1898 the issue of free raw material was squarely and directly submitted to the Democrats of Texas and in both instances they went on record as opposed to free raw materials that entered into the manufacture of protected wares.

"In 1892 Mr. Bryan declared that the National Democratic platform when its demands conflicted with those of his constituents could not and should not bind him, and he spoke and voted directly against one of the most important platform demands, to wit, the repeal of the 10 per cent tax on State banks.

"During all these discussions the only Senators who favored free iron ore were Allen, Kyle and Peffer, populists, and David B. Hill.

"To recapitulate: We find the Democrats during Cleveland's administration—the only Democratic administration in three score years—all voting for a high duty on iron ore, and, of course, against that particular free raw material, and we find Mr. Bryan disputing the authority of the National Democratic party to bind him to a course of conduct in conflict with the instructions and interests of his constituents."

This would indicate that Mr. Bryan has not permitted the dictates of his party platform to interfere with his idea of his duty to his constituents; indeed, we find him saying that, in the event of conflict, the platform would not bind him. This ought to prove a sort of eye-opener to those Democratic editors who have been reading members of Congress out of the party for adhering first and foremost to the interests of their home people.—Tampa Tribune.

AN UNWISE LAW.

Governor Glchrist has approved an act of the recent Legislature which makes it unlawful for any person, persons, firm or corporation to pay the poll tax of another, and providing a penalty for any tax collector to receive payment for such poll tax from any person other than the one to whom the same is assessed. He has also approved the new primary election law, which requires candidates to make sworn statement of all expenditures in connection with their candidacy for nomination for office, and prohibiting candidates from contributing to any charitable institution or church, etc. It is one of the most drastic measures in many other respects that could be enacted, and if it does not result in the abolition of the primary system of nominating officers, then nothing else is calculated to do so. The new law will have to be seen to be "appreciated" by the voters.—Gainesville Sun.

Yes, and "the half has not been told." It was public policy and for the best interest of the taxpayers that as many poll taxes should be paid as possible. The reason is, that in our sawmills, turpentine farms, cross-tie camps, phosphate mines, railroads, telegraphs and other public industries, there are thousands of laborers who are assessed a poll tax only. These poll taxes constitute a portion of the school fund, which sorely needs every dollar it can get. This law knocks the school fund out of thousands of dollars at a time of its direst need.

All the talk about poll taxes being paid as a purchase price for votes is "buncombe" of the first water. When a man goes into a voter's booth with nobody there but himself, he votes independently and freely as he chooses. He may lie about how he voted when he comes out, but he has voted just as he pleased all the same and made the school fund one dollar richer "all the same."

Again, this is in direct conflict with an old law that has come down to us through the ages, namely, "that whatever a person may lawfully do himself, he may do through a duly authorized agent."

We believe that it is also in conflict with the constitution and supreme court decisions of this State. But, if it bursts up the primary system then, indeed, will it be a blessing in disguise.—Jasper News.

The tax payers of Gainesville would like to see the report of the auditor of the books of the city officials, which the city charter makes it mandatory upon the city council to have made and published once each year.

Ocean fare on the two biggest Cunarders has been cut $2.50. That ought to make possible a trip abroad by people who have hitherto felt they could not afford it.

Railroad prosperity is usually a good barometer of the condition of the country it serves. The restoration of the Louisville dividend is another sign from the South.

It is conservatively estimated that there are fully seventy acres planted to castor oil beans in the close vicinity of Miami, and a total of one hundred and twenty-five acres in the county, all of which is a sort of experimental crop with a view of making the cultivation of the bean an industry. The promoters of the industry have a perfected organization and while a refining plant for extracting oil for medicinal purposes may not be erected in time to handle this crop, such is their ultimate intention. The beans now under cultivation are doing fine and a big yield is certain. This particular section and its soil are considered especially adapted to the growth of the castor bean, hence the fact that the cultivation is being pushed. The promoters hold that within a year or two enormous acreages of the castor bean will be under cultivation here.—Miami News-Record.

The monied men of Great Britain who declaimed so violently against the budget because of the additional taxes upon income, inheritances and land are not at all consistent. They protested that it would compel them to live in other lands and to invest their money entirely in foreign securities. But when the London County Council recently issued a call for a loan of two and a half million pounds these same monied men almost fell over one another to take it up, and the total amount offered the council was one hundred and twenty-five million pounds. At the same time the German government asked for forty million and made a much better offer, and yet the total amount offered was but seventy-four millions of pounds. All of which goes to show that the threat of financiers to desert England was a mere bluff vainly made to scare the government.

Hon. Ben. B. Lindsey, the famous Juvenile Court Judge of Colorado, "hands down" an opinion on the cigarette that ought to make people think: "I have been in the juvenile court nearly ten years, and in that time I have had to deal with thousands and thousands of boys who have disgraced themselves and their parents, and who have brought sorrow and misery into their lives; and I do not know of any one habit that is more responsible for the troubles of these boys than the vile cigarette habit."

CURE FOLLOWED YEAR OF AGONY

Intense Itching Eczema Drove Him Nearly to Despair—Chief Surgeon of a London Hospital Called It Worst Case He Had Ever Seen—Got Little or No Relief Until

"About four years ago, in London, I was troubled by a severe itching and dry, scurfy skin on my ankles and feet. The same, in a few days, was the case with my arms and scalp. I could hardly keep from scratching, which, I need hardly say, made it worse. Then large red patches appeared, with inflammation and soreness. After ten days, thousands of small red pimples formed. On becoming dry, these caused intense itching. I was advised to go to the hospital for diseases of the skin. I did so and was an out-patient for a month or more, the chief surgeon saying: 'I never saw such a bad case of eczema.' But I got little or no relief. Then I tried many so-called remedies, but I became so bad that I almost gave up in despair. On coming to this country I heard so many accounts of cures by Cuticura Remedies that I resolved, as a last resource, to give them a trial. This was after suffering agonies for twelve months, and right glad am I that I did so, for I was relieved of the almost unbearable itching after two or three applications of Cuticura Ointment. I continued its use, combined with a liberal use of Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Resolvent Pills and am more than thankful to say that after using three sets of the Remedies, I was completely cured. I can only add that, should any one be suffering as I did, I hope that they will do as I did, and I am sure of the results. Henry Searle, 2022 Cross St., Little Rock, Ark., Oct. 8 and 10, '07."

Dr. F. B. Stevens of Fort White was among the visitors to the city yesterday. He was en route to Cedar Key on a short business visit. He has recently disposed of all of his interests in Fort White and purchased property in Havana, Cuba, where he intends locating permanently.

E. K. Anderson of High Springs passed through the city yesterday en route home from Palatka, where he attended the trial of the Kelley-Anderson case. He states that it was a hard-fought battle between the lawyers, and that much time was consumed by them in argument.

Mrs. W. C. Jackson of this city, who for the past several weeks has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. J. W. Walker, in Albany Ga., is now pleasantly located in Montecagle, Tenn. Mrs. Jackson will remain there until the heated season is over, and will then return to her home here.

Everyone would be benefited by taking Foley's Orino Laxative for constipation, stomach and liver trouble, as it sweetens the stomach and breath, gently stimulates the liver and regulates the bowels and is much superior to pills and ordinary laxatives. Why not try Foley's Orino Laxative today? J. W. McCollum & Co.

Tommy Thompson, who has been holding the position of paymaster in the large Arapeka mills at Flvay, Fla., is in the city for a short stay. He is en route to Mississippi, where he goes to engage in the merchandise brokerage business. Mr. Thompson is well known here, where he is very popular. His many friends are glad to see him again, and wish him much success in his new enterprise.

Harry Denton of Oak Halls Makes a Home Run for Cordele.

In the second game of the series between Ocala and Cordele in the former city yesterday, Ocala won by the score of 2 to 1, which must have been a pretty game from the spectator's viewpoint.

It is understood that the run made for Cordele was made by Denton, who is playing with the Georgia team for these three games, and that he succeeded in placing the ball over the fence.

Colored Union Academy.

The patrons of Union Academy met and organized on the night of June 23rd, and much to our credit and delight we can say in all candor that we had an orderly and successful meeting.

There were many points of vital interest brought to light and discussed by a few of the patrons in attendance. J. Z. Feltner was elected permanent chairman, while D. W. Rowe was chosen permanent secretary.

D. W. Rowe, J. W. Gass, D. S. Days, A. J. Parker and C. W. Duval were appointed as a committee on resolutions whose duty it is to draft, convey and present the wishes of the patrons of Union Academy to the Hon. Board of Public Instruction of Alachua county.

The purpose of these meetings and resolutions is to ask that the school be placed on higher ground from every viewpoint. D. W. ROWE, Secretary.

RESCUING A CAPTIVE AND SAVING A HERD BY BUFFALO BILL

FROM "TRUE TALES OF THE PLAINS"

COPYRIGHT, 1908, BY WILLIAM F. CODY

JUNE 18, 1890, under General Eugene A. Carr, saw us hunting for a band of Indian "dog soldiers" who were, like the Irishman's son, here, there and at times everywhere.

Nebraska, Colorado and Kansas were all excited over the depredations of these renegades. They had murdered right and left, had captured several hundred mules and horses and destroyed wagon trains, as we could tell by the trail of some shod animals. What intensified our desire to punish or capture them was the fact that they had some white captives—Mrs. Alderdice, whose husband and children they had killed, and Mrs. Weigel, whose husband and family had also been massacred, and these two women were known to be still alive and with them.

At last we got on their trail and had almost daily skirmishes, and General Carr decided to use some stratagem to see if we could not get them in a tight place. He consulted with me, and after a day of continual skirmishing and a night attack he ordered a retrograde movement, which created a good deal of discussion between the officers and men at the time. Apparently abandoning the pursuit, he retired as if going back to the fort, and in two or three days, as he surmised, the Indians were nowhere to be seen, having come to the conclusion that we were disheartened and that they could with impunity take a little repose themselves. This was exactly what our wily commander desired, as he intended to retrace his steps and catch them sleeping. So, being sure that there were no Indians in sight, he packed all the grub possible on the mules, burned the wagons and impediments and immediately started to make forced marches in their direction.

As I had surmised, they were heading for Summit Springs, a few miles south of the Platte river and among the sand hills, which formed a beautiful little oasis, as it were, for a camp ground. Striking their trail by judging from their daily campfires, we made in one day the same distance that they made in three, but when near the Springs, as we saw the trail getting fresher, we covered four of their day's journeyings, with all their impediments and village outfit, in one day and landed at the opportune moment ready for business, while the enemy had been thrown off their guard and gave us an opening that resulted so gloriously that this battle is recognized as having been one of the most effective in the early breaking of the power of the red man on the plains.

In "Carr's Campaigns" General Carr writes:

"On Sunday, July 11, 1890, I was thinking of going to the river to water my horses when 'Buffalo Bill' came to get around, beyond and between them and the river. He changed horses quickly and went on, and I took to the gallop for several miles through the deep sand and got to the top of a sand hill or mound. Some Pawnees away off to the left on the bluff beckoned me, and I went. The Pawnees pointed over the ridge and said, 'Hoss, boss.' I saw what looked like a band of ponies, but said, 'No, buffalo.' They said, 'No, no; hoss, boss.' They took my glasses and looked and said, 'Yes, hoss.' I looked, and, sure enough, they were ponies grazing, and the camp no doubt was below. I permitted the Pawnees, as was their custom, to strip and take off their saddles and all their uniforms, but to keep on their drawers, so as to be recognized as friendly. I had sent word to Colonel Royal, and he sent up Major Walker's company and came on with the rest. I placed the Pawnees on the left and two companies of the Fifth cavalry in the center and one of Captain Price's on the right. I told Major Eugene Crittenden to take command of the center and I would take the reserve and send up reinforcements as required.

"When we all got started I told the bugler behind me to sound 'the charge,' and we were among the enemy before they had any idea that we were within a thousand miles. Then I heard the rattling of rifles on the right and left, plainly distinguishing the basso sound of 'Buffalo Bill's' trusty rifle, old 'Lucretia Borgia.'

"'Buffalo Bill' got pretty well around the village when he went in on Captain Price's right. As he advanced he saw a chief on a horse charging about and haranguing his men. He and his party laid for him, and as he came nearer 'Buffalo Bill' shot him off his horse and got the animal. This was the celebrated race horse Tall Bull, which he (Cody) rode for a long time and with it won many exciting races. When he came into camp Mrs. Tall Bull said that it was her husband's horse, leaving no doubt about the fact that 'Buffalo Bill' had killed the chief.

"On this occasion the Indians had two white captives—Mrs. Alderdice of Missouri, whom they killed during the fight, and Mrs. Weigel of Kansas, who had been shot in the back with a pistol bullet, which broke a rib, but was deflected and passed around and lodged below her left breast. Fifteen hundred dollars in gold, silver and greenbacks, which was gathered in the camps, was given her, and she went back, remarried and 'proved up' her claim. Next morning we dug a grave on a hill above the village and buried Mrs. Alderdice, the surgeon reading the service.

"I detailed a board of officers to count the dead Indians, and notwithstanding that it is their custom to carry away the wounded and to hide or bury the dead we found sixty-eight dead bodies on the field."

As chief of scouts under General Phil Sheridan, I and the men were resting at Fort McPherson after a hazardous expedition and a long and successful chase. It was a quiet June evening, and we were enjoying refreshing breezes. A detail had left the fort to water the government herd of horses and mules in the nearby Platte river when shots were heard. Every one was on his feet in a moment, for it was learned that a party of Sioux Indians had dashed from the cottonwood trees, shooting, shouting and waving blankets, and had stampeded a herd of about 400 animals. The Indians had killed two of the herders and wounded another. Some of the herd ran for the corral, where they were accustomed to go for the night, but the Indians got away with about 200 and started for the bluffs south of the fort. All was excitement, but, as was my custom, I had my war horse, "Old Buckskin Joe," near at hand and was mounted in time to make a reconnaissance and note the direction in which the Indians had disappeared with the government stock.

General William H. Emory had his bugler sound the "boots and saddles," and by the time I returned for instructions five troops of cavalry were busy saddling up, getting their arms, ammunition and some supplies. One company—1, Fifth United States cavalry—were the first troops saddled and ready for the chase. Their officer, a young lieutenant by the name of Earl D. Thomas, now Brigadier General Thomas and in command of the department of Colorado, was just out from West Point, full of ambition and delighted to be in command in the absence of his superiors. General Emory and myself agreed on the necessity of quick action, and, to the delight of young Thomas, he was ordered with his troop to follow me, while the other troops as soon as ready would follow.

"Fours right! Trot! Gallop!" And we dashed off. We followed at a gallop until dark, but did not get a sight of the Indians, and the tracks showed that they were whooping it up on the run. A halt was called to give the puffing horses a rest, and Thomas consulted me. His orders were to follow and recapture the animals. I told Thomas I could follow the trail at night if necessary and awaited his answer. "I will follow you, Mr. Cody, as I was told to do so, and I will go wherever you propose." After a short rest, "Mount and forward!" was the order, and the chase was continued. During the night the Indians repeatedly doubled on their trail. We did not reach Medicine creek, where we got water for men and horses, until 11 o'clock the next day.

The trail showed that the Indians were headed southwest, in the direction of Red Willow Springs. Knowing that there was no water between Medicine creek and the Red Willow, I was sure that the Indians would make a stop there, as it was many miles from there to the next water. We decided it was best to keep continuously on the job and as the Indians must make some stop to rest and eat we could overtake them. When the horses were rested, and as we had nothing on hand to eat to delay us and had had nothing since dinner the day before, our best possibility for a meal was to overtake the Indians, surprise them, whip them and capture what dried meat they had.

After leaving the creek the Indians began their old tricks in trying to hide their trail by devices well known to me, but I paid no attention to this, knowing what must be their next stopping place, and I was as familiar with that part of the country as they were. Straight on we kept to the Springs, except that occasionally we went out of the direct line to keep in low places between the sand hills so as not to be seen. At 9 o'clock that night we halted four miles from the Springs. Advising Thomas to allow the men to unsaddle and unbridle, letting each second man hold two horses by their halters, and so let them feed on the grass, changing the men every two hours so they could get some sleep, I disguised myself as an Indian and started off to locate the hostiles and be back in time so as to attack them at daylight. No fires were to be lighted, and all were to be silent until my return. Before I left, half of the tired men of the little band were slumbering. One hour later I had seen the camp, just as I expected, in fancied security, believing that we could not be within a day's march of them.

Crawling back till I could hoof it on the run, I found the boys as I had left them. Quietly they were called to saddle up, instructions were given, men were detailed to pay particular attention to recapturing and rounding up the herd, and others were instructed as to the attack on the camp. I estimated the Indians to number about thirty, and there were forty-two of us. Ten were to creep up to the sleeping Indians on foot and be ready to work in open order. Twenty, besides the lieutenant and myself, were to charge on horseback. The rest were to bring up the remaining horses, attack the herders and round up the entire herd. We attacked at break of day, and the whole scheme worked well. The tired lot were surprised when awakened to meet their foes. Nine of them were sent to sleep forever. Many had kept their war horses near them, and, hastily mounting, they escaped with several picked horses from our band. Among them was one of my favorite war horses, Powder Face, which one of them who probably knew him had appropriated for his own use.

As soon as the fight was over and I saw that we had captured some of their herd as well as our own I saw that Powder Face was not with them, but I recognized him half a mile away, his rider heading for the hills. This made me hot, and, knowing that the Indians would think others were following me, I dashed after them. Old Buckskin Joe soon began to gain, and I got near enough for a shot. My first shot killed the horse that an Indian was riding alongside of Powder Face, and his rider was soon up behind in the usual manner they try to save a warrior, riding backward, shooting at me with his revolver. Powder Face was as swift as Joe. Being in the rough sand hills and having a double weight to carry, Joe in a few minutes got me near enough for a good shot. I kept closing on them, as I did not want to hit my old friend Powder Face. When I thought it sure as they were riding up over a mound I fired. The Indians fell, the one bullet going through both, and when Powder Face heard my voice he ran toward me whinnying, and, with two of the boys who had been ordered to follow close behind me by the lieutenant, we returned to the camp in high glee. They found a lot of dried buffalo and deer meat and some fresh antelope and deer, with accompanying pepper and salt and copious drafts of spring water, so a few minutes' rejoicing was had. A detail was quickly made up to bury the dead, and as we had but three slightly wounded and five horses knocked out the enthusiasm can hardly be described.

Intending to visit a small village in Scotland, Archbishop Tait arranged to have his letters addressed to the local postoffice, which happened to be also the hamlet's general store. On the day of his arrival the prelate entered the shop and made inquiry if there was anything for the archbishop of Canterbury.

"Maybe you'll be that pursen yerself?" the storekeeper suggested, without replying to the archbishop's question.

"Quite right," said Dr. Tait; "I am." "Weel," added the tradesman, "I have a son in a shop in London, and he told me he aince gied to St. Paul's cathedral to hear ye preach, and he was verra weel satisfied wi' ye!"—London Home Journal.

Men Past Fifty in Danger.

Men past middle life have found comfort and relief in Foley's Kidney Remedy, especially for enlarged prostate gland, which is very common among elderly men. L. E. Morris, Dexter, Ky., writes: "Up to a year ago my father suffered from kidney and bladder trouble and several physicians pronounced it enlargement of the prostate gland and advised an operation. On account of his age we were afraid he could not stand it and I recommended Foley's Kidney Remedy, and the first bottle relieved him, and after taking the second bottle he was no longer troubled with this complaint." Early Football Players.

Football was for many years the national game of Florence. The season was from January to March, and the ladies and gentlemen of Florence and the populace as well were wont to assemble on the Piazza Santa Gioce to witness the game, which was called "calcio," from the word meaning "to kick." The last game was played in 1739.

GAINESVILLE, —THE— University City.

Gainesville is conceded to be the most enterprising as well as the most beautiful city in the interior of Florida. It is located in the very center of the State, half way between the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts, surrounded by lands of such fertility as to be capable of producing a great variety of crops; in the heart of the truck-growing, phosphate and naval stores belt. She has the best educational advantages in the State, good churches, with edifices which are superior to any town of its size in Florida, with large and consistent congregations; has a climate which cannot be excelled for health and pleasure. All these natural advantages, combined with a progressive and enterprising cosmopolitan citizenship, are sure to make a big city.

There are many natural attractions in close proximity to the city, some of which are Alachua Sink, Paine's Prairie, the Devil's Mill Hopper, Warren's Cave, and Lake Newnan, all of which are reached by private conveyance.

Spring Park Stock Farm, the largest and finest live stock farm in the State, is only eight miles west of the city and is reached by a good hard road, affording a most pleasant drive.

The farmers of Alachua county, of which Gainesville is the county seat, "live at home and board at the same place." The temperature is very uniform, scarcely ever reaching the nineties in summer or the twenties in winter. The population of Gainesville is about eight thousand, representing nearly every nationality on the face of the earth, and strangers always meet with a hearty welcome.

The University of Florida for young men and the National Agricultural Experiment Station are located within the corporate limits of the city. In fact, Gainesville has so many things that we must be pardoned if we omit a few of them in the following enumeration of what

NOTICE OF INCORPORATION.

Notice is hereby given that we, the undersigned, intend to apply to His Excellency, Albert W. Gilchrist, Governor of the State of Florida, on the 25th day of July, A. D. 1909, for letters patent to be issued to Wilson Dry Goods Company, upon the proposed charter of said company, a copy of which is as follows:

C. A. COLCLOUGH,
J. D. STRINGFELLOW,
W. R. THOMAS,
J. D. GARDNER,
BESSIE L. KING.

Articles of Incorporation of Wilson Dry Goods Company.

We, the undersigned, hereby associate ourselves together for the purpose of forming and becoming a body corporate under the laws of the State of Florida, and do hereby make, adopt, declare and subscribe the following as the articles of our incorporation:

Article I—The name of this corporation shall be "Wilson Dry Goods Company," and its place of business shall be Gainesville, Alachua county, Florida, but such branch offices and places of business may be established elsewhere as the Directors may from time to time determine.

Article II—The general nature of the business to be conducted by this company shall be to buy and sell any and all kinds of merchandise, at wholesale or retail; to buy, sell, mortgage or lease realty and personal property; to do a general mercantile and contracting business; and to exercise such powers as shall be necessary for, and incident to, the conducting of said business or businesses.

Article III—The capital stock of the company shall be $50,000.00, divided into five hundred shares of $100.00 each, $30,000.00 to be paid up in full in cash before commencing business, and the remaining two hundred shares to remain in the treasury of the company and sold by said company at not less than $100.00 per share for cash, as the by-laws may direct.

Article IV—The corporation shall continue and have full power to exercise its corporate franchise for ninety-nine years after the commencement of its corporate existence.

Article V—The business of this corporation shall be conducted by a President, a Vice-President, a Secretary and Treasurer, a Manager, and four Directors.

The directors may be increased by the by-laws to any number not exceeding six. The directors shall be elected by the stockholders at the annual stockholders' meeting held in Gainesville, Florida, at the principal place of business of the corporation, on the first Tuesday in January of each year, beginning in the year 1910. The other officers shall be elected by the directors immediately after the stockholders' meeting. The first annual meeting shall be held on the first Tuesday in January, 1910, and until the first election of directors and officers, the following shall be the officers of the corporation: President, C. TWO PIANOS AND A DIAMOND RING

Total Cash Value, $1,000.00

To Be Given Away by the Merchants and The Sun to Citizens of Alachua County!

Each Section Gets Prizes!

Contest to Close August 18, 1909

Realizing that all should share alike in the distribution, leading business houses have joined in the combination to give away Two Handsome Pianos and One Diamond Ring to residents of Alachua county in three different sections. These progressive firms will give One Vote for each penny spent with them.

In the event of a tie for any prize offered, a prize similar in all respects thereto will be given each of those tying.

THE A. R. HARPER PIANO CO. of Jacksonville, from whom the pianos for this contest were purchased, have agreed to offer extra prizes as follows: To the first five candidates in each district, excepting the winners of the capital prizes in the said districts, one certificate each for $100.00 which will be redeemable in cash as a payment on any piano handled by them—the Everett, Harvard, Dayton or John Church Pianos. In addition to this they will give a certificate good for $25 to all other contestants in the race, and will make special arrangements with anyone to take care of their paper on all purchases of instruments at the cash price.

The Gainesville Section Will embrace the city and suburbs and be confined to a radius of four miles in each direction. The winner in this district will be awarded a HANDSOME DIAMOND RING.

Eastern and Southern Section Will comprise territory from Fairbanks all points east and from Rochelle all points south—Waldo, Hawthorn, Island Grove, Campville, Micanopy, Lake View, Tacoma and all points along line of T. & J. Ry. ONE PIANO.

Western and Northern Section Will comprise all stations from Hague to High Springs, Trenton, Wannee, Wilcox, Bell, Newberry, Jonesville, Archer and all settlements covered by this area. ONE PIANO.
